The subject of historical and philosophical research is the philosophy of all times and peoples. This monograph provides a comparative analysis of the doctrines of N.A.Berdyaev, Lao-tzu, Confucius, Abai Kunanbayev and M.Zhumabayev. Through a comparative analysis of solutions to a number of problems in the philosophy of N.A.Berdyaev with similar solutions in traditional Chinese and traditional Kazakh philosophy, will help to form philosophical reflection, get skills of self-analysis and moral self-regulation. The locality of philosophy (Russian, Chinese, Kazakh) endeavours to cover the whole world historical and philosophical process. The monograph consistently reveals the anthropological component of philosophical knowledge. It focuses on the comprehension of the essence of man in Russian, Chinese and Kazakh philosophy, and on the problems of historical self-consciousness. Critical comprehension of the theme of man is important for Kazakh philosophical anthropology and social philosophy. The monograph is of interest to all inquisitive people who are searching for the meaning of life and human existence.
